1 Remember the story

Answer in your own words. Look back at the story if you want.

1 What did Faigy actually do before the spill?

2 What caught the water cup?

3 How did Faigy help without taking blame for the accident?

2 Fact or guess

Read each sentence. Circle Fact if the story shows it for sure.
Circle Guess if it is only an idea someone has.

- | | | | |
|---|---|------|-------|
| 1 | Faigy asked about a paint color. | Fact | Guess |
| 2 | Asking an ordinary question meant she had done something wrong. | Fact | Guess |
| 3 | Henna's sleeve caught the cup. | Fact | Guess |
| 4 | Faigy had to stop enjoying her own work to be kind. | Fact | Guess |
| 5 | Morah handled the spill and wet floor. | Fact | Guess |
| 6 | Faigy corrected the pencil she had misplaced herself. | Fact | Guess |

Write one fact and one guess from your own day.

3 Think and write

Write what is true for you, or write about a made-up person. You do not have to share anything private.

- 1 Invent a small accident with more than one event before it.

- 2 Separate what each person actually did from what someone merely blames themselves for.

- 3 Write a kind offer of help that does not falsely claim responsibility.

6 Say it out loud

Practice these out loud, or whisper them. Then write what you would say in your own words.

1 "What did I actually do?"

2 "I can care about your problem without saying I caused it."

3 "That pencil was my mistake. I can fix that part."

7 Draw the moment

Draw two panels: Faigy holding Henna's dry sketch and Faigy finishing her own sea. Caption how both can be kind choices. Use paper only; do not stage a spill.

8 Try another scene

An invented child asks a cousin a normal question. The cousin turns and knocks over their own stack of paper cards. Write four sentences in which a grownup helps separate the child's question from the cousin's movement, and the child offers useful help. Include that not every event before an accident is wrongdoing.
